COLLISION XXV

SHINNING MOMENTS

Born in 1999 out of a concept that believes student-athletes of the CIF Los Angeles City Section and CIF Southern Section deserved to be saluted for achievements both on and off the basketball court, Kenneth Miller created this event that has featured individuals who have went to Ivy League College and became great high school coaches like Notre Dame's Matt Sergeant to those who went to the NBA such as Darren Collison and Russell Westbrook. Players like Wesley Stokes shown here in '99 of Long Beach Poly High School and the list of MVPs and students that have been saluted by my friend Coach Steve Lavin is what makes this a special event that will stand the test of time, delivering precious memories that measures beyond a lifetime. Flush left my dear friend Jim Harrick presents the late Slam 'N Jam founder Issy Washington the Harrick Lifetime Achievement Award at LA Southwest College in 2015.

DREAMS COME TRUE

La Mirada's Derrick Williams played in Collision in 2009 and is shown here with 12-year old Vittorio Reynoso-Avila. Vittorio and his father were guest of official Collision photographer Nick Koza. Williams went on to become the No. 2 overall NBA draft pick of the Minnesota Timberwolves in 2011. Vittorio followed Williams to La Mirada and was the Division 2 MVP for State and Regional Finals in 2015 and then received the Scholar Athlete Award from Coach Steve Lavin at Collision in 2016. Yes, dreams do come true.

STARS & SCHOLARS

In 2015 Windward's Emily Sufloff became the first player to capture both MVP and Scholar Athlete Award while leading the Southern Section to a 96-86 victory over the City Section.

Ontario Christian's Amanda Ajobiewe (2) earned MVP for both her defense and scoring, propelling the Southern Section to a 75-54 blowout in 2024, an event that was a tribute to the late Kobe Bryant at Leuzinger.

2002 Collision MVP Narbonne High's Lisa Willis returned to present the 2010 MVP to AB Miller High's Chole Wells. Both went on to enjoy college careers at UCLA and Duke, respectively.

In 2024 at Leuzinger High School, St Pius X St Matthias Academy's Tyrone Riley soared and scored while lifting the Southern Section to a thrilling 103-102 victory. Riley won MVP before heading off to the University of San Francisco.
